Roanoke and Southern

Reports received here yesterday from the Virginia and North Carolina construction company are very encouraging. An engineering corps has just started from Martinsville to esablish the final route to this city This is excellent news and will be hailed with joy by all who have the interest of Roanoke at heart. With the Roanoke and Southern completed our city will rapidly develop into a large manufacturing center as well as secure a fine wholesale trade.

The South.

The South as a field for investment becomes more and more attractive to New England capital. The latest enterprise called to our attention is that of a company which proposes to build an industrial town at Grand Rivers, in Kentucky. The famous Cumberland river ores will be again developed, and the furnaces that were destroyed during the war will be replaced with modern plants by the hand that destroyed the former ones, —the hand that now comes to rebuild and not tear down. Mr. Aretas Blood, the millionaire manager of the Manchester, N. H., Locomotive Works, is chester, N. H., Locomotive Works, is the president of the Grand Rivers company.

The capital and influence of such men will be welcomed by all classes in the South, and the locality that se-
